

As my meetings have been mostly with the people from VENUS, I will give a few comparisons of their human relations and behavior, with our own.

They have made a detailed study of nature and find the Cosmic Father impregnating the material elements of the Mother-Planet, and supplying each form with the Cosmic Breath, that it may grow and serve all other parts of creation. They have so sensitized themselves that they can feel the pulse of the blade of grass, and the breath of the rock. To them all human beings are a manifestation of the Cosmic Breath, lending life and energy to each individualized form.

As they studied the trees, flowers, rocks, the birds and animals, and observed how each was fulfilling the purpose for which it was created, they came to the conclusion that Nature is God's Own Law in action.

So Nature could be called a mother of the Supreme Intelligence, because it is through this mother that the Supreme Intelligence expresses. Just as the mother's body supplies all the material needed for the little form that is being built within her own, so Mother Nature supplies the needs of all of the forms that are born from her body.

By these observations they have come closer to knowing the Father and His purpose than we of Earth have.

BIRTH: Their children are conceived, nurtured and honored, with this always in mind: They know that each individualized form, for which they have been privileged to provide a body, has had endless experiences. They honor the dweller in the temple of the body as an expression of Divine Principle. Conception takes place in a womb of love and there are no sex relations during the gestation period. On Earth this reverence is not given and relationship continues, thus causing many crippled conditions.

INFANCY: When an infant is very young it's mind has not received too many impressions from its present surroundings, and there are pictures and feelings that radiate from the Inner Spark of Life within the form. The Builder of the form, the All Inclusive Intelligence, is in free state. Parents on Venus know this and have learned much from their children.

INCARNATION: One child may be from Saturn and has incarnated on Venus to learn a certain phase of life that has not been expressed, and also to serve in forming balance of planetary knowledge. This has always been the case; there are those on Earth, that have had experiences on all of the planets of our system, and each one contributes to the progress of the Earth, intellectually, culturally and scientifically.

The blessing is that inhabitants of Venus never try to force their own will upon a child, nor in any way try to have them mold their lives according to their own pattern. They know that each individual has its own destiny. They will guide and care for a child, but never interfere with its individuality. Should anything happen to the parents the children are cared for by the community, for all phases of their society are as closely knit together as their family units. And the child would not feel a loss or separation from his parents.

I believe that you can see, with this attitude towards themselves and others, just what their homelife is like. They have their chores as we have, but most of their work is done by machines designed for that purpose.

As an example: They have an attractor that gathers all particles of dust from their homes; the dust is not released outside but is deposited in containers provided for that purpose. The dust is gathered from these containers and taken to a central plant, where it is processed to extract the minerals from the particles, for they do not waste anything.

Our space friends have tried to awaken us to the reality of our own misguided thinking; they can understand us, for they too have had to discipline their minds, and divert the individual ego into channels of service for others. They are interested in accomplishment, not for themselves but for the betterment of all. They are a happy people; it is not an emotional happiness, but an inner joy that comes from a task well done. They have utmost respect for everything and everyone. The man who prepares the ground for the foundation of a beautiful building, is held in as high esteem as the artist who paints the murals upon the walls. They know that each part is interdependent upon all other parts.

HONOR : We in our world honor the man we feel to be brilliant, and look with disdain upon the common ditch-digger. The Venusian's whole approach to everything that they do is different from ours. If they are painting a picture or molding a statue, they have great respect for each material that they are working with, feeling that it is a living thing, and they imbue all of their creations with a portion of their own life force. Their statues seem alive and ready to speak. Their reactions are never of egotistical satisfaction, for they feel that they were only an instrument, through which a beautiful creation was made manifest.

I believe that it is easy for us to understand why the inhabitants of Venus, living as they do in constant awareness of, and in contact with Cosmic energy, do not age or have diseased bodies and minds. They do not need doctors, for every one is familiar with the structure and operation of the body, and should there be an accident causing a broken bone, anyone could adjust the injury. They look upon the body as a garment made from the materials of the mother planet, and loaned to the individualized expression of intelligence of each form, for a sufficient length of time for it to render certain services, and gain knowledge and wisdom from the contacts and experiences that it will have.

The garment we call the "body" can be cared for and maintains its usefulness and beauty for a long time; but there are advantages in having a new garment. When a new body is assembled, the cell structure, or chemical elements that go into the form, have had experiences of their own, and the memory is held in the atom of each cell; thereby the dweller in the house can partake of the experiences of his structure. (I have explained this in my course TELEPATHY, the Cosmic or Universal Language).

DEATH : The inhabitants of other planets know this, and they gladly discard an old garment for a new one, when the time is right. Therefore death, as we call it, is not dreaded by them, for they know that the Universe is in a state of constant change. They know that when they move on to another planet, they will be provided a body made from the elements of the planet, and that it will be much more adjustable to the conditions that they find there. It is like moving from an old house into a new one, for they know that the chemicals of the old body have served their purpose and will go into a resting period of chemical changes, that they may be used again.

HISTORY: The Venusians have in their Libraries of Recorded History the records of each planet in our system, the structural composition of the planet, the rise and fall of the civilizations of the planet, the mechanical, scientific and cultural development of the inhabitants of the different planets.

They have told me that documents have been recorded upon our own planet Earth, that contained vast storehouses of knowledge. But that these records have been either destroyed, hidden or the original meanings completely lost through the many translations from symbol to language, and from language to language. The original manuscripts that should have been compiled, gave in simple, understandable explanation Creation, Evolution and Change of planets and systems, and the true meaning of the Garden of Eden, in reference to man living as a unit with his Cosmic Father. Descriptive examples of what takes place when man separates himself from Cosmic Cause by exaggerating his own egotistical importance, thus causing his own fall and the eventual destruction of that era of civilisation. The meaning of the ever forgiving Father, or Cosmic Intelligence, as depicted in the story of the Prodigal Son's Return, when he was re-enstated to his original birthright, by becoming aware of his unity with Cosmic Intelligence.

These records are in our Holy Bible, but their true interpretations have been lost. I wish that I might be able to draw a more graphic picture of just what has happened in the minds of man down through the ages, as he became more and more greedy, and changed the original records to suit his own purposes, in order to keep the masses under the dominance of his own exaggerated egotistical importance; but perhaps this is not necessary, for we can see the results of this selfishness, expressing itself on all sides today.

The Space People know that the results of this type of thinking and practice lead to ultimate destruction, and they would point out to us the folly of our ways. They have told me that this has happened many times before, that every civilization that has gone down, has been warned and given an opportunity to break through their shell of limiting importance, and enjoy the privileges of the System rather than just those of one planet

DEVELOPMENT

The citizens of Venus are not free from making mistakes, for as I have stated, their mental development, on a scale of 100% development of the capacity of the mind, is about 20%, therefore they are bound to make mistakes. We make many mistakes and continue to repeat them, time after time, but when they make one, they recognize it as such and do not repeat it, but learn by each mistake that they make. They share their experiences with each other, and never condemn the actions of another.

Spiritual Life of the Space People: Many have asked me if the people on other planets worship God as we do, and if they have places of worship, such as churches. I think that it has been well explained that they live, move and have their being in the constant awareness of the Divine Intelligence, expressing even in the blade of grass.

On one of my visits to a mother ship I was shown a moving picture on a screen, similar to our TV, of one of their buildings. There were wide steps leading to the entrance way, and the end of a long room, similar to the nave in some of our beautiful old Cathedrals, covering a large wall, was "AGELESS LIFE". (That I described in ITSS).

It was breath-taking for it was vibrant with life. I do not believe that any one could ever get any closer to God, than when standing in the warm embrace of this glorious portrait of Cosmic Life. And within this building was studied the wonders of the Universe and the perfect co-ordination of Cosmic Action, prompted by Cosmic Intelligence. No, we have a long way to go, before we even understand the meaning of the word "worship". Since gold is used so abundantly on Venus, I sometimes wonder if the Prophets of old did not at some time visit Venus, when they described the Gates of Heaven that were made of gold, and the streets paved with gold.

Or perhaps some were from there and used the word "Heaven" to depict their way of life in comparison to ours of Earth.

Homes and Public Buildings on Venus.

The structural and size differences of houses are as varied on Venus as they are on Earth. For the people have individual needs and preferences in taste, for the type of building and furnishings, as we have. Their occupation determines the locale in which they live, just as it does with us.

Innately they have a very deep appreciation, almost a reverence, for beauty, and this is reflected in their bodies, their clothing, the furnishing of their homes, and in the structure of their buildings. They have materials with which to work that are so vibrant with soft beautiful colors that they seem alive.

Since they are gentle mannered people, violent contrasts and extremes of design would not have a place in their pattern of harmonious living.

The natural, abundant growth of flowers, flowering trees, shrubs and vines, and the lush foliage and grasses, are a source of never ending inspiration for beauty of color and design.

When I was on a trip on a river in the tropics of Mexico, I was reminded of the descriptions my friends had given me of the lush, natural beauty of their planet. There is a great deal of moisture on Venus and little assistance is needed to have beautiful landscapes. Lovely pools and graceful statues, and grass covered parks and terraces abound for all to enjoy.

The architecture and structural material of the community buildings also vary in color, ornamentation and size.

As there is a vast amount of gold on their planet, and as they do not place a monetary value on it, it is freely but skillfully used in decorative designs on their buildings. Perfectly executed friezes of figures and symbols in gold are used on the exterior to designate the functional use of buildings. Slabs of cut stone are used quite extensively as a building material. Rock crystal, found in strata formation, can be removed in large pieces, and is ideal for translucent, but not transparent wall construction. They have found a method of easy faceting, that enables them to jewel-cut large colored rocks. When these are used in building construction, they look like semi-precious stones, and some are highly polished and reflect lights in all directions.

Food preparation, etc. We have been told by some diet experts that man is what he eats; but I would rather say, man is what he thinks. The chemical reactions of the food that we take into our bodies does effect the way that we feel. This is an individual thing and cannot be prescribed, en mass, for all alike. But our emotional status at the time the food is eaten, is an important factor in the assimilation of the elements and transformation into energy.

Some of the Space People that I have met have explained in detail their attitude towards food. They have made an extensive study of chemicals and their reactions under certain conditions, and also of the cell structure of the human body, and the fuel that is needed for the continuous replacement of cells that are ever changing.

Again they are more fortunate than we of Earth, for the planet Venus is in a virgin state of productivity, with natural moistures and mineral content of the soil that vitalizes the food that they grow. Their understanding of how nature replenishes all that is needed, guides them working with natural conditions, and they never force production, and thus take the life-giving sustenance from the soil.

Some of their foods are cooked and some are eaten raw, but they have a method of cooking that does NOT destroy the life-germ of the elements of food. They do eat a sufficient amount of meat to replenish the carbon necessary for the proper functioning of the body. (Since writing ITSS I have learned more about their eating habits, for one of their chemists explained the importance of taking different type of foods into the body, to supply all of its parts.)

LANGUAGE: On my first meeting with Orthon as described in FLSHL, and on several occasions when I have been on a mother ship that carried large excursions of people, I have heard them converse in their native language. It was high pitched and very musical; to best describe it I would say it was like the clear, pure tones of the flute, not plaintive but exhilarating.

Even their spoken word carries the feeling of all-life expressing in sound, for they seem to have captured the song of the birds, the sound of the wind through the trees, and the melodious ripple of the water.]

But to them the spoken word is not necessary to convey their thoughts and feeling to another, for they have such a close unit of one with the other, that they sense the thoughts and feelings of each other. In order to have the spoken words there first must be a thought, or picture of that thought in the mind. By their unity with feeling, they are in the same frequency with the thought, and it does not have to be given audible sound for them to understand what is meant, for they see the picture that is in the mind.

When I first met them, I did not have to introduce myself by saying: "I am George Adamski"; they knew who I was, my purpose for being on this planet, and my willingness to aid them to the best of my understanding, in serving the people of Earth. They knew that I would have to have certain experiences in order to verify my own beliefs or inner feelings, that I might tell others of a broader concept of the universe, and the purpose of life. So these experiences were granted to me, not that I might be recognized as one of authority, but that I might be a better servant to humanity.

It is unfortunate that we have so many different languages on our planet, for in translations much of the original meanings and feelings are lost, and misunderstandings arise. When each individual is able to understand and use Telepathy, as the Space People do, this difficulty will vanish, for then the true identity of the thought will be known.

Life in its true essence of expressing is so easily understood, but we have complicated our concepts by placing labels, giving names, and placing into separate compartments that which cannot be divided. Until we can return to the awareness that all parts of the Cosmos are interrelated, and inter-dependant upon all other parts, and cannot function independantly, we will flounder in the confusion of effects, and not understand the Cause, or the Blueprint, or Pattern of all action.

Recreation, Games etc. You may ask, are the people of Venus always of a serious mood, and think only of expressing the divinity of their being? To the second part of this question I could answer "yes", for to them the Cosmic Intelligence is always in a free state, and expresses the joy of unhampered action, But they are not "serious" as we understand the word.

Lance: Their music is a recording of the frequencies of the particles of the Cosmos, acting and reacting in perfect harmony, one with the other to create a symphony of joyous expression. And when they dance, they are aware that the cells of their body are released in the free state of continuous rejuvenation that make them ever youthful.] Therefore dancing is regarded by them as a form of worship or thanksgiving to Cosmic Energy, for granting them the privilege of expressing Everlasting Life. This is done by uniting every movement of their body with the rythm of the music. Many of thenative Islanders and socalled "uncivilized" tribes of this planet, still carry the memory of the original purposes of the dances that they enact. But in most cases they cannot or will not, reveal the secrets of Creation that the por - tray. As long as we express in our daily actions the feelings of our own personal opinions, irrespective of the feelings of others, we must remain in the field of limited energy and understanding.]

The Space People enjoy all types of games, the same as we do, and many sports and competitive athletic tournaments. Also cards and other types of games that they play while crusing in space.

Government: As I have stated in my two books, the other planets of our system have a planetary type of government, with councillors, who coordinate all problems that may arise, and take care of the needs of the different sections of their planet. They do not need laws such as we have,] for their individual code of ethics is so high, that should they transgress the natural, or Universal law, they know it and make the necessary amends to right the wrong they have done. There are young Councillors and older advisory Councillors, and there are those who travel space, and keep well informed on what is transpiring on the other planets and the needs of the system. By this interchange of information, they are continuously learning more about the Universe.

Planetary Changes: By this interchange they are aware of the natural changes that are taking place on the different planets of the system. They know that the planet Earth is due for a change, or shift of polarity, but they do not know just when it will be, and if partial or a complete shift. They are interested in observing the changes that are taking place on the planet; and if there should be a complete shift, they will aid in whatever way they can. I have been saying for several years, that there are large numbers of their people living among us, and I have been asked hundreds of times: What are they doing here? One of the reasons is, that many of them are in constant communication with their home planet, and are alert to the changes our Earth is going through.

Space Craft from Mars and Venus, and some from Saturn and Jupiter are keeping a constant vigil in our skies, recording on their instruments the changes of the magnetic lines of force in our atmosphere, and from within the body of our planet. On their home planet they have graphs that have been made when similar changes have taken place on other planets. By comparing their findings with these charts, they are able to ascertain just what is transpiring within the body of Earth. Our scientists have been alerted to the change through IGY 1957/58 observations and have found it necessary to extend their research, for the changes were so rapid, that before they could compare and record their findings, the conditions had already changed.

The coming of our neighbours from other planets is not just for the entertainment of Earthlings, nor for starting a new religion, for they are not Gods. Any more than our scientists, who have been sent to strange out-of-the-way-places to make observations for the IGY, were sent there to save the inhabitants. But our neighbours are willing to share their knowledge with us, if we are willing to do our part. They know that our viewpoint of life is based on false premises, and our present attitude and behavior will lead to self-annihilation. Their program is vast in scope, and the pattern well laid out. They do not judge us for our disbelief, for they know that in time all of this dilemma of fantasy will die of its own reality. And people of Earth will use their minds to think clearly and realistically, and that mystery will be replaced by understanding of natural law.

Dear co-workers, This article by George has never appeared in print. I wanted to share it with you. But if any of you should want to make use of it, then please ask George's permission first. - - I am in correspondence with Fred Steckling of Washington D.C., who helps the Rodeffers with their group. He has worked out a letter to all the Churches and priesthood, in which he attempts to acquaint them with GA and his work. The letter contains a short biography of GA, shows some of his UFO-pictures and names his books and writings; and it also mentions UFOs in the Bibel. This letter has already been submitted to GA for his approval. After that it will be printed and sent out, in USA and Canada. I thought if the letter is good and approved by GA it would be a good idea if we translated it and sent it also to the Churches in our respective countries simultaneously if possible. What do you say? His address is: Washington D.C.,

1724 - 17th Str., N.W. 26. USA.

And now I give a hearty Welcome to the new members on our list whom I do not know yet: Hedlene Rodeffer, Leif and Nils! And all of you I wish a fine Xmas-season and may 1965 see us all united again!

Dear Hachiro! Thank you for your bulletin. Your friend (Dora)

Visnu, Apr. 30, 64
I wish you the very best for this Xmas season. Please Dora tell me how your work is progressing beside that CEA which is using so much propaganda. They have apparently a lot of money? God bless you! D.
